On-site lining – the heavy duty “big brother” of a traditional factory produced swimming pool liner and now with even more textures and colours to give stunning new looks to a refurbished swimming pool. On site lining systems have a much longer lifespan than traditional 30thou gauge liners and are also able to withstand very much higher water temperatures. Originally designed for use in commercial swimming pools, the robust material has a large range of colours and patterns and can be used to line even the most difficult shaped swimming pools. For brochures and a quotation please call 01527 861321 or email sales@poolsandgardens.co.uk

Natural stone paving – the most traditional of materials, but now used to great effect around swimming pools often doing away with the need for coping stones in contrasting colours for a modern, contemporary look. With so many colours and textures available, the most difficult part can be choosing your stone!

Porcelain paving – the most hard wearing of substances – porcelain is non-porous so doesn't allow water, algae & dirt to penetrate its' surface making it a really low maintenance option for around a pool or spa. Modern technology has made it possible for porcelain to imitate pretty much any material such as wood, natural stone, concrete and to have great anti-slip properties so its' an option well worth considering when you are thinking about refurbishing your pool or spa surround. The clear-cut separations between the spaces are becoming less distinct, the environments are linked together and the outdoor blends into the indoor and vice versa, so a pool or garden room area can run seamlessly outdoors to create the illusion of space and the appearance of the inside being outside.
